The original order that the approval of a regimental or higher commander was necessary before packages might be sent to members of the expedition-ary forces has been modified so officers with the rank of major and higher may approve shipments. The approval of a company commander is

The question of the shipment of parcels to France first came to the attention of the War Department when the commanding general of the ex-peditionary forces cabled that congestion of such articles had reached such a point that French railroads were unable to handle the load. A board appointed by the Secretary of War and the Postmaster General examined 5, 000 sacks of parcelpost mall and founthat the articles being sent not only, in the main, were absolutely un-necessary, but undestrable. The in-vestigation showed that the amount of such mail had reached a total of 500,000 pounds a week, and was steadly increasing.

Relatives and friends, according to a recent statement by the War De-partment, will find they often can do a greater service to soldiers by sending them money for the purchase of ar-ticles in France than by forwarding the articles. Tobacco is now being and merchandise of nearly all kinds
